

Repsol increases fuel discount for haulers by an additional 10 cents per liter

- The company is offering this discount to haulers and the self-employed from Saturday until June 30 at more than 3,300 Repsol service stations in Spain.
- This offer is compatible with other advantages already provided by Repsol to haulers and the self-employed through its Solred payment card.
- In addition, Repsol has decided to extend by more than two months, until June 30, the discount of 10 cents per liter on fuel for private customers who use the free Waylet application, a promotion that has reduced the price of fuel in more than 600,000 refueling operations since March 16.
- After announcing a discount for private customers a week ago Repsol is again taking the initiative in the current context of high fuel prices caused by the sharp increase in international raw material prices as a result of the war in Ukraine.

Repsol will lower the price of its fuel products by 10 euro cents per liter for professional customers who pay with the Solred card at its more than 3,300 service stations in Spain. This discount is in addition to those already received by haulers and the self-employed.

The discount will be applied from Saturday until June 30 and is granted in the current context of high fuel prices caused by the increase in the international commodities as a consequence of the war in Ukraine.

In addition, the company has also decided to extend by more than two months, until June 30, the price reduction of 10 euro cents per liter in all its fuels -gasolines, diesel, natural gas vehicles and AutoGas- to those private customers who pay with the company's Waylet application.

The initiative, launched on March 16 and originally intended to run until the end of the Easter holidays on April 18, has been extended until June 30. To date, this discount for individuals has helped to reduce the cost of more than 600,000 refueling operations.

Repsol customers who have the Waylet app or who sign up for it have a coupon of 10 euro cents per liter that can be used by private users in the following fifteen days for any type of fuel, with no minimum amount and for a maximum of 60 liters per operation.

During the duration of the program, and for each refueling operation paid with the application, a new coupon will be received with identical conditions. This discount is compatible with other advantages already offered by Waylet to its users, such as the app welcome promotion, which generates a balance of 3 euro cents per liter of fuel during the first six months; or with the offer for contracting electricity and gas from Repsol.

Repsol is offering this discount to transport professionals who already have one of the Solred cards or to those who decide to register as new users of this payment method. The offer is compatible with other offers already received by haulers and the self-employed through these cards.

In line with Repsol's strategic commitment to digitalization, professional customers who wish to do so can substitute their physical Solred cards and make payments through Waylet, while maintaining all its advantages at no additional cost.

Repsol, a leader in the quality and innovation of its products, has the most extensive network of service stations in Spain.
