

At two of its service stations, the company boasts the first ultra-fast charging points in Spain

Repsol continued to innovate in mobility, with cutting-edge projects that strengthen the company's position as a leader on the Iberian Peninsula. In this vein, it opened Spain's first two ultra-fast charging points for electric vehicles, which will make it possible to recharge vehicle batteries that support its maximum power in five to ten minutes, a time similar to that needed for conventional refueling. One of them, which is located in Ugaldebieta (Biscay), has the most powerful charging station in Europe.
