Corporate Responsibility

Vision and preparation of this Plan

Sustainable development is a responsibility shared by political, social and economic actors that requires decisive action.

At Repsol we understand Corporate Responsibility to be the contribution made by large companies to sustainable development. We consider that the essence of Corporate Responsibility is the incorporation of environmental and social aspects into the decision-making processes of organizations.

We contribute to development by supplying energy that is essential for the realization of people's fundamental rights.

Additionally, we aspire to contribute to this sustainable development through our vision of Corporate Responsibility, the responsibility we voluntarily assume. This goes beyond the legal requirements regarding the impact that our activities may have on society and the environment. We thus respond to our stakeholders' expectations regarding our activities by implementing practices that maximize positive impacts and prevent, mitigate, repair or offset negative ones.

We have identified the expectations that our stakeholders have on issues related to governance, respect for Human Rights, labor practices, environmental impacts and the legitimacy of our operating and value chain practices; and concerning issues that affect the consumers and users of our products and services, as well as the positive and negative impacts that could be generated in local communities.

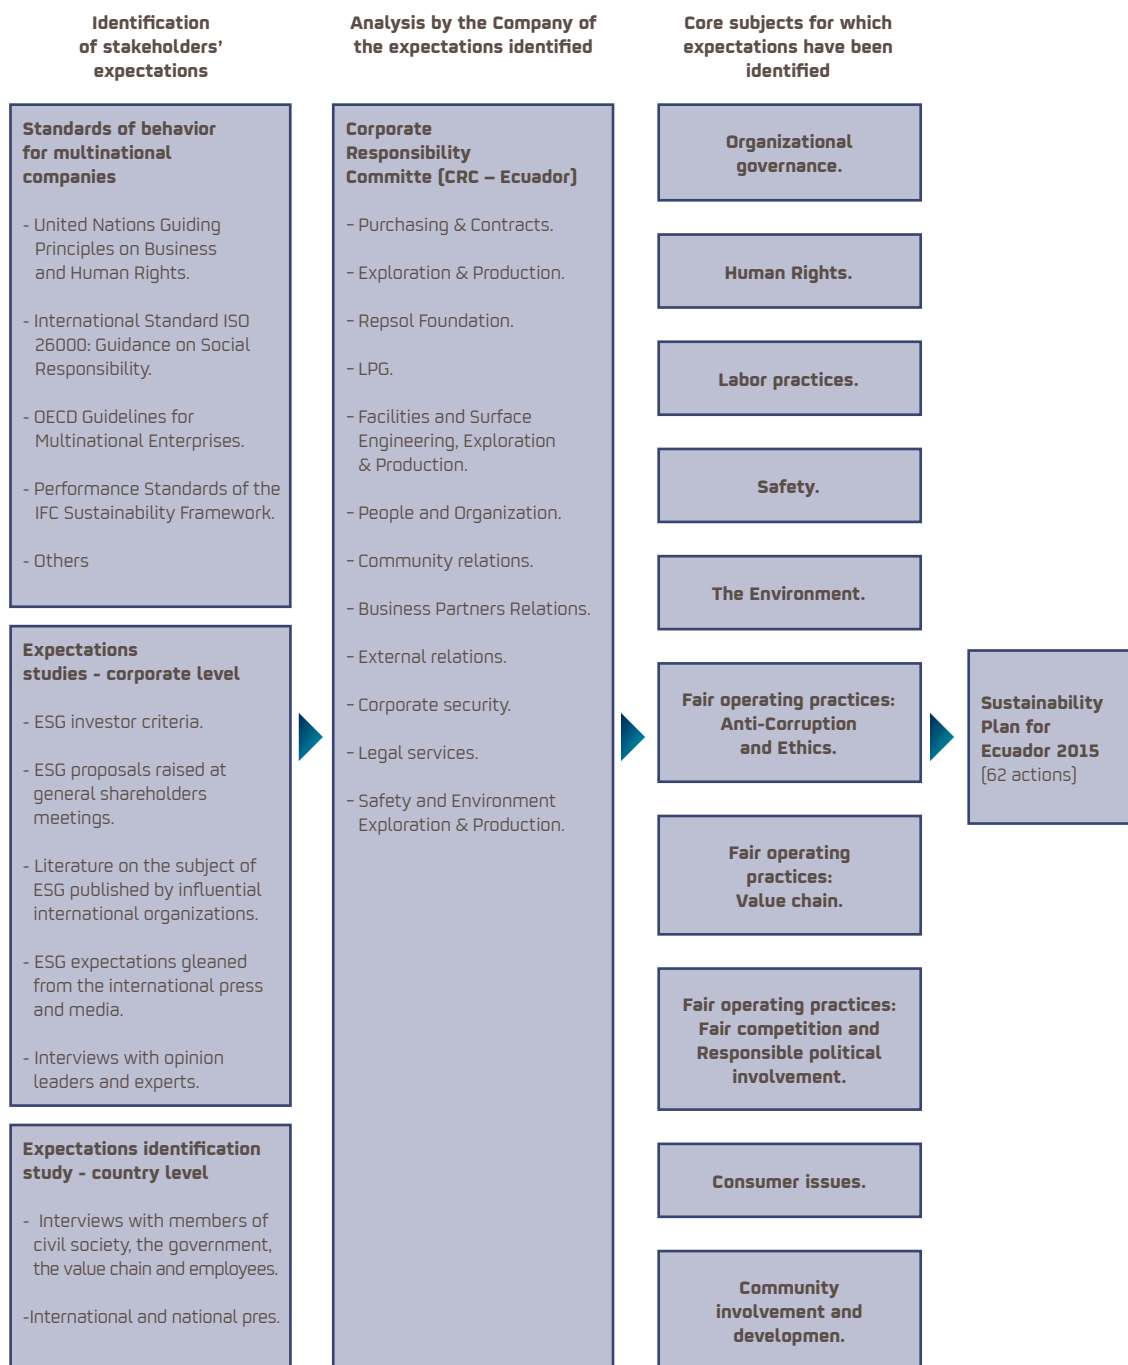

The identification of these expectations at a global level has been carried out through an analysis of four international standards that currently make up the broadest international consensus on acceptable behavior for a multinational company.

In addition, we have developed Expectations Surveys on relevant issues for the Company's stakeholders, at corporate and country level. The surveys focus on aspects of organizational governance and environmental and social management (ESG).

After an analysis and consolidation process, the results were studied by the Ecuador Corporate Responsibility Committee, chaired by the Managing Director of the country business unit and formed by executive-level representatives of the different business and corporate units in the country.

This exercise has enabled us to formally and systematically introduce the expectations of stakeholders in Ecuador into the Company's decision-making processes, which is essential to Corporate Responsibility.

-INTRODUCTION OF STAKEHOLDERS' EXPECTATIONS INTO THE COMPANY'S DECISION-MAKING PROCESSES-

The result of this analysis is the current Sustainability Plan 2015, which is a public document, the degree of compliance of which will be assessed annually and reported to the society through an annual follow-up report.

This Plan consists of 62 specific short-term actions (2015) with its corresponding implementation indicators, grouped in nine of the ten programs described in the above table, inspired in the core areas of corporate responsibility described in the ISO 26000 International Standard: Guidance on Social Responsibility. These are the areas in which companies have the greatest ability to generate ethical, environmental and social impact.

With respect to the programs, the largest number of actions has been concentrated in the Labor practices, Environment and Organizational Governance programs:

86% of the actions included in this Plan are linked to the variable remuneration system applied to Repsol's employees, which constitutes the Company's unequivocal commitment to the effective maximization of its contribution to sustainable development.

Program 5

The Environment

Today Society faces a significant number of environmental challenges that vary from global problems like climate change or the depletion of natural resources, to other local problems that, nevertheless, can have an important impact on the environment where they occur. These include air or water pollution, the generation of waste or the destruction of ecosystems and biodiversity.

The activity of companies invariably contributes to some of these impacts. And these issues have special relevance in sectors such as oil and gas that are characterized by the performance of extractive or industrial activities in large installations. Therefore, it is necessary that companies identify options that enable them to prevent these impacts, minimize them when unavoidable and correct them.

These options include preventing and mitigating environmental risks and impacts through suitable control mechanisms, proper emergency management, operational efficiency, suitable management of water resources and waste, efficient use of materials, regulatory compliance and environmental management systems.

The program also addresses climate change, environmental and biodiversity protection, and the need to champion an environment-oriented culture and conduct through leadership, training, environmental communication and awareness, ensuring due diligence in our commercial relationships, including partner rating processes, audits and controls, training on the subject of environmental protection, and environmental communication and awareness campaigns, among others.

In order to respond to stakeholders' expectations on the Environment, the Repsol group has specific management systems which can be consulted on the corporate website repsol.com

Consumer issues

Companies have a series of responsibilities with customers who purchase their products or contract their services.

Among these, particularly noteworthy are the obligations to provide them with accurate information on the goods acquired, to guarantee at all times their safety when using products, to provide them with efficient customer service and to protect the privacy of data collected during commercial transactions.

Furthermore, companies can achieve important objectives when promoting sustainable development, such as contributing to provide essential services to areas of the population that lack these, -something that is key for a company in the energy sector like Repsol-, and promoting products or information that allows for the evolution towards a more sustainable consumption model. They must also factor in to their business everything relating to customer care services, support and resolution of grievances and claims, and personal data protection.

In order to meet the expectations of its stakeholders on the subject of Consumer Issues, the Repsol group has specific management systems in place which can be consulted on the corporate website repsol.com

Program 9

Community involvement and development

Community involvement and development stems from the identification of existing stakeholders and involvement with them in the management and minimization of the impacts that the organization's activities might generate.

Similarly, by actively involving and developing the local community the Company can become an asset serving society and the community, although in this process the community frequently raises different, and sometimes opposing interests, which the Company must weigh up together. Shared responsibility is needed to promote the community's well-being as a common goal. The Company must liaise with the different groups representing the community to establish priorities for its social investment, with particular attention paid to vulnerable groups.

Companies can help boost local development by creating jobs, improving relations with public authorities, enhancing the capacities and opportunities of local suppliers, and rolling out cultural, healthcare, social and environmental initiatives and programs.

In order to meet the expectations of its stakeholders on the subject of community involvement and development, the Repsol group has specific management systems in place which can be consulted on the corporate website repsol.com

Process of updating the Plan

This Sustainability Plan is a dynamic document.

Each year we will give an account of the extent to which the actions that make up this Plan have been carried out by publishing a monitoring report.

Moreover, given that the expectations of our stakeholders and the issues that concern them are changeable and subject to the evolution of events during the course of the year, this Plan will be updated annually with new actions or the reformulation of existing ones to adapt them to the new situation.

The successive updates of the plan will leave behind them a trail of completed actions that, collectively, are a contribution of our Company to sustainable development.
