CONDITIONS OF USE OF THE SAP/SRM TOOL

I. The SAP/SRM tool is an IT application on the Repsol Internet portal (www.repsol.com) that allows suppliers who have been invited to bid application processes called by the Repsol Group companies, through the use of a user name and password, to carry out the following actions:

- Display and download the documentation of the application for bids
- Create the bid and
- Submit binding bids

Repsol provides a user name and password to certain individuals who, according to the information provided to Repsol by its suppliers, have sufficient capacity to represent the supplier and, in particular, to submit binding bids for the supplier in bid application processes to which it has been invited. For security reasons and prior to accessing the application, these persons must change the password initially assigned to them by Repsol.

II.- You state and guarantee that you have the sufficient power to act and oblige the supplier for whom you are participating in this application and state that you know that through the use of this user name and password that you, or the person who, eventually, uses them carries out binding acts for the supplier for whom you are participating. The actions that you carry out, the communications, documents or statements that you send and, in particular the bids that you submit through the application under this user name, will be understood, to all effects, to be made, sent and submitted for and on behalf of the supplier.

III.- By pressing the "Create Bid" option, you state and accept voluntarily and expressly that:

- You are drawing up a binding bid for the supplier whom you represent.
- You are fully authorised to make binding bids for the supplier whom you represent.
- The bids that you submit voluntarily through the application will be understood, to all effects, to be submitted on behalf of the supplier whom you represent.
- All actions of a company nature and of any other type required to make a binding bid legally and with full efficiency for the supplier whom you represent have been adopted and that on the date of submitting the bid they continue to be completely valid and effective.
- You know the terms and conditions of the invitation to tender, both specific and general, and that you accept them for and on behalf of the supplier.

IV.- Repsol assumes no responsibility for any misrepresentations, inaccuracies or errors that may exist in these statements, and in the bids and information, documentation and/or statements facilitated and/or made through the application under this user name.

V.- You undertake to maintain your user name and password secret and to apply the necessary procedures to maintain their confidentiality and prevent their
